Each unitholder has an undivided interest in the mutual fund corresponding to the individual's share of the total number of units in the fund issued. Each unit in the mutual fund grants equal rights in the fund. The equal treatment of unitholders is a central pillar of legislation pertaining to mutual funds and the practices that Odin Forvaltning AS follows. Odin Forvaltning AS has further guidelines and procedures in place to ensure equal treatment and justifiable prevention and handling of potential conflicts of interest. These shall protect all unitholders in the fund. Further information about this is available upon request from Odin Forvaltning AS.

A Unit holder is not entitled to demand division or liquidation of the Mutual Fund.

The unit holders' liability for the obligations of the fund is limited to their initial deposit. Unit holders in the mutual funds that are managed by Odin Forvaltning AS elect one third of the Board members.

The elections are held at election meetings pursuant to rules specified in the Articles of Association of Odin Forvaltning AS.

Unitholders should periodically receive information about their unit holdings in the fund and the value of these, as well as details of the returns for unitholders during the period and the current year. Winding up

With the consent of the Financial Supervisory Authority of Norway, Odin Forvaltning AS may decide to wind up a mutual fund that the company manages. In that case, the unitholders will be notified of the liquidation pursuant to Section 5-7 of the Norwegian Securities Fund Act.

Purchase and redemption of units

The fund's units are not listed in a regulated market.

Calculation of net asset value (NAV)

The value of a fund is determined by adding the market value of the fund's financial instruments to the value of the fund's liquid assets/receivables, accrued but not due income and any carry-forward loss, and then subtracting any liabilities and accrued but not due costs, including latent tax liabilities and any payments to unit holders from the fund. Dividing the value of the fund by the number of units gives the net asset value. Where the value of a security is not observable, a value will be set by the management company on an objective and consistent basis.

The fund's net asset value is not calculated when markets in which an essential share of the fund's portfolio are invested are closed. Odin Forvaltning AS is not liable for customers' losses or damage in connection with the calculation of rates that are due to conditions beyond the company's control, e.g. power failure, strike, faults in data processing systems or telecommunications networks or errors committed by the company's sub-contractors.

Announcement of subscription and redemption prices

Information about the asset value is normally published daily by Oslo Stock Exchange (Oslo Børs ASA) to a number of Norwegian newspapers and is also available on our website, www.odinfond.no.

Procedures for subscription (purchase of units) and redemption (sale) or switching between funds

Subscription and redemption or switching take place c/o Odin Forvaltning AS. See also www.odinfond.no. Notification of subscription, redemption or switching of funds may be sent by post or electronic services approved by Odin Forvaltning AS.

Odin Forvaltning may, at its sole discretion, choose to accept subscriptions, redemptions and fund switches from existing unitholders in the fund via other channels of communication.

The fund is normally open for subscription, redemption and switching on all business days in Norway and closed when pricing for the underlying securities is not available for some or all the fund due to national markets being closed.

Subscriptions and redemptions

The deadline for subscriptions, redemptions or fund switches is 12 noon each business day.

Subscriptions can be executed when written notification containing the information required for subscription has been received by Odin Forvaltning AS, an amount equal to the subscription value has been value dated on the fund's account by the deadline and any identity checks have been completed. Notifications regarding subscription to fund units cannot be made conditional or be cancelled.

Pursuant to the Norwegian Cancellation Act of 20 June 2014, no right to cancel applies to purchases of units in securities funds. Units can be subscribed to in the currency of each unit class. See the minimum subscription amounts per unit class below.

To redeem units, written notification of the redemption containing the information required must be received by Odin Forvaltning AS by the deadline. Redemption claims cannot be made conditional or be cancelled. Payments for redeemed units will be made to the specified bank account, normally two business days after the price has been determined. Payments for redeemed units are made in the currency of the unit class.

Prices for subscriptions, redemptions and fund switches will be determined on the same business day, except for funds that have price determination on the next business day.

Suspension of the right of redemption

In the event of a stock exchange closure or other, similar extraordinary circumstances, as well as in cases where it is justified based on unitholders' interests, Odin Forvaltning AS may seek the Financial Supervisory Authority of Norway's consent to wholly or partially postpone the valuation and payment of redemptions. In assessing whether such a measure should be implemented, Odin Forvaltning AS will place particular emphasis on ensuring equal treatment of the fund's unitholders.

If the interests of unitholders or the public interest dictates it, the Financial Supervisory Authority of Norway may also instruct Odin Forvaltning AS to wholly or partially suspend redemptions.

The fund's benchmark index

The fund's benchmark index is the Oslo Børs Mutual Fund Index (OSEFX).

The benchmark index is adjusted for dividends.

The fund's investment strategy

The fund is an actively managed equity fund and can freely invest in companies that are listed or have their head office or origins in Norway. The fund manager invests freely within the framework of the mandate in what the fund manager thinks are good, undervalued companies. The fund is index-independent – importance is not attached to the size of the companies or to their weight in the market indices.

Investment decisions are made based on our own thorough company analyses, which are based on a number of different sources, e.g. visits to the companies and conversations with the companies' management. Odin's fund managers look for good, undervalued companies that have good attitudes, also with regard to ethical issues.

To improve the creation of wealth and/or highlight the values in the companies in which the funds are invested, Odin's fund managers also spend time exercising shareholders' rights on behalf of the funds' unit holders.

Sustainability

Odin Forvaltning AS has developed guidelines for the responsible management of securities funds that apply to all the funds under management. The guidelines are based on the UN Principles for Responsible Investment (UN PRI), which Odin Forvaltning AS signed up to in 2012. In line with the guidelines, sustainability risk must form an integral part of all investment decisions. Sustainability risks are environmental, social or governance incidents or circumstances that may have a real or potentially significant negative impact on the value of an investment should they occur. The extent of the sustainability risk varies between companies, sectors, markets, and the time horizon of an investment. Sustainability risk in the fund and in an individual investment consists of exposure to these factors.

Such integration includes ESG analyses of companies before and during an investment period, as well as screening portfolios at regular intervals. The process of selecting the companies the funds will invest in is in part based on these analyses, and companies are not invested in when their sustainability risk is deemed too high. Sustainability risk is one of several factors that affect each investment and the fund's return. An ESG-analysis of each of the fund's holdings seeks to reduce the fund's sustainability risk, and the risk of negative impact on returns from the occurrence of sustainability-related incidents or circumstances.

Odin Forvaltning AS is supposed to be an active owner in the companies the funds invest in and encourages companies to become more sustainable. It does this through voting, direct engagement with the companies and cooperation with other investors.

Odin Forvaltning AS expects companies the funds invest in to conduct their business responsibly and companies that fail to demonstrate an ability or willingness to remedy situations that do not meet expectations will be eliminated from its portfolios. The complete guidelines for the responsible management of securities funds in Odin Forvaltning AS are available from the company's website. When the board or management of a company demonstrates an inability and/or unwillingness to take account of environmental and social conditions, we view this as a sign of poor corporate governance.

Odin Forvaltning AS is, therefore, committed to ensuring that the companies we invest in practice good management and corporate governance. We believe this contributes to good long-term returns.

This fund is classified as a fund that promotes, among other characteristics, social and environmental characteristics as defined in Article 8 of Regulation (EU) 2019/2088 on sustainability-related disclosures in the financial services sector.

The Fund's strategy to promote sustainability is primarily attained through an active ownership and voting policy to promote ESG, and through the exclusion of certain sectors which have a negative impact on social or environmental factors. For more information on the fund's integration of sustainability see the addendum to the prospectus.

The fund is typically characterized by relatively high levels of risk in relation to fluctuations in the value of the fund's units over time (volatility) since the fund invests in shares.

Return and risk

For up-to-date information on the historical returns and risk of the fund, see the key information for the fund. Up-to-date information on returns is also available on Odin Forvaltning website (see section 1 of this Prospectus).

Historical returns are no guarantee of future returns. Future returns will, among other things, depend on market trends, the skill of the manager, the risk level of the fund and the costs associated with subscription, management and redemption.

The return may be negative as a consequence of drawdowns.

The fund's return may fluctuate during a year. Realized losses or gains from investing in fund units will therefore be dependent on the exact time of purchase and sale.

Tax

The following sets out briefly the tax regulations that apply to mutual funds and unitholders. The following information does not constitute tax advice. Rules and practices in taxation law are under constant development and may be subject to amendments in the future.

Odin Forvaltning AS may be obligated to provide information about unitholders' holdings in Odin's Equity Mutual Fund to Norwegian and foreign authorities notwithstanding statutory duty of non-disclosure. Please contact your local tax consultant for more information.

Tax rules applicable to the mutual fund

This fund is tax domiciled in Norway. Ordinary income is taxed at 22 per cent (2025). However, the fund is exempt from liability to pay tax on equity gains and does not allow for deductions in lieu of losses when realizing shares. Dividends and gains from investments that fall under the exemption method are also tax-free, except for 3 per cent of tax-free dividends. Net interest income, foreign exchange gains, dividends from companies outside the exemption method and capital gains on interest-bearing securities are included in taxable income for the fund. Deductions from the fund's taxable income include deductible costs. The fund's management fee is usually the most significant cost item in this regard.

The fund is exempt from wealth tax.

The fund does not pay dividends.

Tax for private investors with tax liability in Norway

Gains from the realization of units in mutual funds are included in ordinary income. Ordinary income is taxed at 22 per cent, but the rate for equity income is adjusted upwards by a factor of 1.72, which results in an effective tax rate of 37.84 per cent (2025). Gains deducted from the deductible allowance are taxed at 35.2 per cent when the fund's equity proportion is greater than 80 per cent. Losses upon the realization are deductible and are adjusted upwards by the same factor (1.72). Exchange of unit classes in the same fund does not entail a taxable disposal.

Fund units are included in taxable capital calculation. Shares in securities funds are valued at the asset value on 1 January of the tax determination year. Share units in securities funds are valued at 80 per cent of the share unit's value (2025).

Share savings accounts

Personal taxpayers' resident in the EEA can establish share savings accounts. Deposits on the account can be used to invest in listed shares and equity certificates in companies domiciled in the EEA, and units in equity funds domiciled in the EEA (mutual funds with a more than an 80 per cent proportion of shares at the start of the income year).

Gains from the realization of listed shares, listed equity certificates, and units in equity funds linked to the share savings account are not liable for tax and losses do not provide a right to a deduction. The same applies to dividends from such equity interests.

Withdrawals up to the total deposited shall be regarded as repayments of deposits and are deemed to be withdrawn first. Such withdrawals are not taxed, although they do reduce the basis for the dividend tax exemption. Withdrawals that exceed repayments of deposits into the account will be regarded as taxable income that, after the deduction of any dividend tax exemption, is taxed at a rate of 37.84 per cent (2025). The dividend tax exemption is calculated on the basis of the lowest deposit balance on the account during the income year plus the unused dividend tax exemption from previous years.

Account holders' dividend tax exemption will be established as of 31 December of the income year. In the case of account holder's resident abroad, withdrawals in excess of deposits into the account will be regarded as dividends.

For account holder's resident abroad, withdrawals in excess of deposits into the account will be regarded as dividends and may be subject to withholding tax. However, for account holder's resident abroad, gains from the realization of shares, equity certificates or equity fund units linked to the account are considered deposits into the account, while losses reduce the deposits.

When share savings accounts are closed, the balance on the account less the deposit on the account is taxed in the same way as withdrawals. If the balance on the account is lower than the deposits on the account, the difference is regarded as a deductible loss on shares. The loss is adjusted by a factor of 1.72 (2025).

Individual Pension Savings (IPS)

Fund units may be included in IPS. Deposits into IPS result in deferral of tax.

IPS schemes bought before 1 November 2017 will comply with the old tax rules for IPS schemes. New unitholders were not permitted to buy IPS schemes based on the old tax rules from this date. The old scheme rules allow you to save up to NOK 15,000 per annum. The amount saved can be deducted from ordinary income and payments are taxed as personal income. The earliest payout age under the old scheme is 62 years old and the funds must be paid out at least until you turn 77, and in any case for at least 10 years.

Unit holders with fund units in an IPS scheme purchased after 1 November 2017 can save up to NOK 15,000 per year (2025). This amount can be deducted from ordinary income, although such that if deposits are made into both the old and the new schemes in the same income year, the deductibles for the two schemes must be coordinated such that the total deductible does not exceed NOK 15,000 (2025).

Payments are taxed as ordinary income. The earliest payout age is 62 years old, and the funds must at least be paid out until you turn 80, and in any case for at least 10 years. The funds deposited in the scheme are exempt from wealth tax and ongoing income tax on the return. Tax is charged when a withdrawal is made.

Company investors (legal persons)

Companies that are covered by the exemption method are not liable to tax on any gains upon the realization of units in funds with an equity proportion in excess of 80 per cent. Corresponding losses are not deductible. Net losses may not be deducted either during the income year or by being carried over to later years.

Tax for unitholders with tax liability outside Norway

Unitholders with tax liabilities in countries other than Norway are encouraged to examine the tax regulations in their respective countries.

Obligations of the custodian institution

The custodian institution's obligations are pursuant to the Norwegian Securities Funds Act and the Act on the Management of Alternative Investment Funds, as well as associated regulations.

The EU Taxonomy sets out a “do not significant harm” principle by which Taxonomy-aligned investments should not significantly harm EU Taxonomy objectives and is accompanied by specific Union criteria.

The “do no significant harm” principle applies only to those investments underlying the financial product that take into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities. The investments underlying the remaining portion of this financial product do not take into account the EU criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities.

Any other sustainable investments must also not significantly harm any environmental or social objectives.

Does this financial product consider principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors?

Yes

The fund considers the principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors. The performance of the company on these factors is assessed prior to investment as part of an overall company analysis. The company's performance on these indicators forms part of the ESG follow-up of the companies, i.e. in dialogue and/or voting.

Principal adverse impacts are the most significant negative impacts of investment decisions on sustainability factors relating to environmental, social and employee matters, respect for human rights, anti-corruption and anti-bribery matters.

Collecting data for many of the indicators below is challenging. The fund will analyse companies and report on the indicators on the basis of company data from an analysis bureau.

The fund will report on the principal adverse impacts on sustainability factors in its annual report.

What investment strategy does this financial product follow?

The fund is an actively managed equity fund and can freely invest in companies that are listed or have their head office or origins in Norway.

The fund manager invests freely within the framework of the mandate in what the fund manager thinks are good, undervalued companies. The fund is index-independent – importance is not attached to the size of the companies or to their market indices. Investment decisions are made on the basis of our own thorough company analyses, which are based on a number of different sources, e.g. visits to the companies and conversations with the companies' management. ODIN's fund managers look for good, undervalued companies that have good attitudes, including with regard to ethical issues.

In order to improve wealth creation and/or highlight the values in the companies in which the fund is invested, ODIN's fund managers also spend time exercising shareholders' rights on behalf of the fund's unit-holders.

The investment strategy guides investment decisions based on factors such as investment objectives and risk tolerance.

● What are the binding elements of the investment strategy used to select the investments to attain each of the environmental or social characteristics promoted by this financial product?

The fund does not invest in companies that breach ODIN's guidelines for responsible management.

ODIN's guidelines exclude investments in companies that have more than

- 0 per cent of revenue related to controversial weapons
 - This means a company that develops or manufactures weapons, or key components of weapons, which, in their normal use, violate fundamental humanitarian principles, including biological weapons, chemical weapons, nuclear weapons, non-detectable fragments, incendiary weapons, blinding laser weapons, anti-personnel mines and cluster munitions.
- 0 per cent of revenue related to tobacco production
- 0 per cent of revenue related to the production of cannabis for the purposes of intoxication
- 5 per cent of revenue related to pornography
- 5 per cent of revenue related to thermal coal extraction or which bases a significant part of its operations on thermal coal
- 5 per cent of revenue related to oil sands extraction

For those companies with revenue from coal and/or oil sands, emphasis must also be placed on having specific plans to reduce the proportion of coal or oil sands or to increase the share of revenue from renewable energy sources.

The fund may choose to exclude several sectors/industries. This fund also excludes companies that have more than:

- 5 per cent of revenue related to alcohol production
- 5 per cent of revenue related to gambling
- 5 per cent of revenue related to uranium extraction

ODIN also excludes companies that are in breach of international norms such as the UN Global Compact. The ODIN funds must not be invested in companies where there is an unacceptable risk of the company contributing to or being responsible for:

- gross or systematic human rights violations
- gross or systematic violations of workers' rights
- serious violations of the rights of individuals in war or conflict situations
- the sale of weapons to states
 - in armed conflicts that use the weapons in ways that constitute serious and systematic violations of the rules of international law relating to conflicts, or
 - which are covered by the sovereign bond exemption scheme referred to in the mandate for the management of Government Pension Fund Global
- serious environmental damage
- actions or omissions that at an aggregate company level lead to unacceptable greenhouse gas emissions
- gross corruption or other gross economic crime
- other particularly gross violation of fundamental ethical norms

An ESG risk assessment is made for all the companies in the fund.

Good governance practices include sound management structures, employee relations, remuneration of staff and tax compliance.

Asset allocation describes the share of investments in specific assets.

Taxonomy-aligned activities are expressed as a share of:

- turnover reflecting the share of revenue from green activities of investee companies.
- capital expenditure (CapEx) showing the green investments made by investee companies, e.g. for a transition to a green economy.
- operational expenditure (OpEx) reflecting green operational activities of investee companies.

● What is the committed minimum rate to reduce the scope of the investments considered prior to the application of that investment strategy?

There is no obligation to reduce the scope of investments by a minimum rate.

The ODIN funds committed to the Principles for Responsible Investment in 2012 and since then the fund has had guidelines in place for its investments. No further obligations have been imposed on the fund recently.

What is the policy to assess good governance practices of the investee companies?

The following principles form the basis for the fund's assessment of good governance practices:

- The United Nations Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights
- The OECD Guidelines for Multinational Enterprises
- The OECD Principles of Corporate Governance and other relevant international norms for corporate governance

Corporate governance is a central element of the company analysis. The fund aims to vote at all general meetings to promote good governance practices.

What is the asset allocation planned for this financial product?

The fund is an actively managed equity fund. All of the fund's investments are covered by ODIN's guidelines for responsible investments. This means that there are clear exclusion criteria detailing where the fund is not permitted to invest. An assessment is made of the ESG risk level in all existing and potential investments in the fund.

The fund is committed to investing a minimum proportion of 10% of sustainable investments with a social objective. The fund may have investments that are aligned with the Taxonomy requirements. The proportion of such investments will be reported in the annual report.

● How does the use of derivatives attain the environmental or social characteristics promoted by the financial product?

The fund does not use derivatives.

To what minimum extent are sustainable investments with an environmental objective aligned with the EU Taxonomy?

The fund does not have a strategy for ensuring that investments are in line with the Taxonomy. When data availability improves, the fund will consider setting targets for the proportion of investments that are aligned with the Taxonomy.

Does the financial product invest in fossil gas and/or nuclear energy related activities that comply with the EU Taxonomy¹?

Yes

In fossil gas In nuclear energy

No

To comply with the EU Taxonomy, the criteria for fossil gas include limitations on emissions and switching to renewable power or low-carbon fuels by the end of 2035. For nuclear energy, the criteria include comprehensive safety and waste management rules.

Enabling activities

Enabling activities directly enable other activities to make a substantial contribution to an environmental objective.

Transitional activities are activities for which low-carbon alternatives are not yet available and among others have greenhouse gas emission levels corresponding to the best performance.

The two graphs below show the minimum percentage of investments that are aligned with the EU Taxonomy. As there is no appropriate methodology to determine the Taxonomy-alignment of sovereign bonds*, the first graph shows the Taxonomy alignment in relation to all the investments of the financial product including sovereign bonds, while the second graph shows the Taxonomy alignment only in relation to the investments of the financial product other than sovereign bonds.

*For the purpose of these graphs, 'sovereign bonds' consist of all sovereign exposures.

What is the minimum share of investments in transitional and enabling activities?

The fund is not committed to a minimum share of investments in transitional and enabling activities, but this does not prevent such investments being included in the fund. It may be appropriate to commit to a minimum share at a later date.

¹ Fossil gas and/or nuclear related activities will only comply with the EU Taxonomy where they contribute to limiting climate change ("climate change mitigation") and do not significantly harm any EU Taxonomy objective – see explanatory note in the left hand margin. The full criteria for fossil gas and nuclear energy economic activities that comply with the EU Taxonomy are laid down in Commission Delegated Regulation (EU) 2022/1214.

are sustainable investments with an environmental objective that do not take into account the criteria for environmentally sustainable economic activities under the EU Taxonomy.

What is the minimum share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective that are not aligned with the EU Taxonomy?

The fund is not committed to a minimum share of sustainable investments with an environmental objective that are not aligned with the EU Taxonomy, but this does not prevent such investments being included in the fund. It may be appropriate to commit to a minimum share at a later date.

What is the minimum share of socially sustainable investments?

The fund is not committed to a minimum share of socially sustainable investments, but this does not prevent such investments being included in the fund. It may be appropriate to commit to a minimum share at a later date.

What investments are included under “#2 Other”, what is their purpose and are there any minimum environmental or social safeguards?

All of the fund’s investments are covered by ODIN’s guidelines for responsible investments. There are therefore no investments in the “#2 Other” category. The fund may contain liquid assets deposited in a bank account.

Is a specific index designated as a reference benchmark to determine whether this financial product is aligned with the environmental and/or social characteristics that it promotes?

The fund uses a broadly composed index adapted to the fund’s mandate; this does not take into account environmental and social characteristics.

Reference benchmarks are indexes to measure whether the financial product attains the environmental or social characteristics that they promote.
